110TH CONGRESS 1ST SESSION

H. R. 3010

To amend chapter 1 of title 9 of United States Code with respect to arbitration.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

July 12, 2007

Mr. Johnson of Georgia (for himself, Mr. Barrow, Mr. Lewis of Georgia, Ms. Schakowsky, Mr. Braley of Iowa, Mr. Cummings, Mr. Gonzalez, Mr. Cohen, and Mr. Ellison) introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary

A BILL

To amend chapter 1 of title 9 of United States Code with respect to arbitration.

- 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
- 2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,
- 3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.
- 4 This Act may be cited as the "Arbitration Fairness
- 5 Act of 2007".
- 6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.
- 7 The Congress finds the following:
- 8 (1) The Federal Arbitration Act (now enacted
- 9 as chapter 1 of title 9 of the United States Code)

- was intended to apply to disputes between commercial entities of generally similar sophistication and bargaining power.
 - (2) A series of United States Supreme Court decisions have changed the meaning of the Act so that it now extends to disputes between parties of greatly disparate economic power, such as consumer disputes and employment disputes. As a result, a large and rapidly growing number of corporations are requiring millions of consumers and employees to give up their right to have disputes resolved by a judge or jury, and instead submit their claims to binding arbitration.
 - (3) Most consumers and employees have little or no meaningful option whether to submit their claims to arbitration. Few people realize, or understand the importance of the deliberately fine print that strips them of rights; and because entire industries are adopting these clauses, people increasingly have no choice but to accept them. They must often give up their rights as a condition of having a job, getting necessary medical care, buying a car, opening a bank account, getting a credit card, and the like. Often times, they are not even aware that they have given up their rights.

- 1 (4) Private arbitration companies are some-2 times under great pressure to devise systems that 3 favor the corporate repeat players who decide wheth-4 er those companies will receive their lucrative busi-5 ness.
 - (5) Mandatory arbitration undermines the development of public law for civil rights and consumer rights, because there is no meaningful judicial review of arbitrators' decisions. With the knowledge that their rulings will not be seriously examined by a court applying current law, arbitrators enjoy near complete freedom to ignore the law and even their own rules.
 - (6) Mandatory arbitration is a poor system for protecting civil rights and consumer rights because it is not transparent. While the American civil justice system features publicly accountable decision makers who generally issue written decisions that are widely available to the public, arbitration offers none of these features.
 - (7) Many corporations add to their arbitration clauses unfair provisions that deliberately tilt the systems against individuals, including provisions that strip individuals of substantive statutory rights, ban class actions, and force people to arbitrate their

1 claims hundreds of miles from their homes. While 2 some courts have been protective of individuals, too 3 many courts have upheld even egregiously unfair 4 mandatory arbitration clauses in deference to a sup-5 posed Federal policy favoring arbitration over the 6 constitutional rights of individuals. 7 SEC. 3. DEFINITIONS. 8 Section 1 of title 9, United States Code, is amended— 9 10 (1) by amending the heading to read as follows: 11 "§ 1. Definitions"; (2) by inserting before "'Maritime'" the fol-12 13 lowing: "As used in this chapter—"; 14 (3) by striking "'Maritime transactions" and 15 16 inserting the following: "(1) 'maritime transactions';"; 17 18 (4) by striking "commerce" and inserting the 19 following: 20 "(2) 'commerce'; (5) by striking ", but nothing" and all that fol-21 22 lows through the period at the end, and inserting a 23 semicolon; and (6) by adding at the end the following: 24
